His Great Fortune Dissipated by the Latter's Rascality. ung Field Confined in an Insane Asylur -His Sister on Her Deathbed and His Wife Dangerously Ill. By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] Fifty-one years ago to-day a New England youth, known as Cyrus W. Field, stood at the marriage altar full of vigor, hope and sturdy ambition. His strength made its impress upon the century. His hope bore him up in his work and his ambition has been rewarded with medals, with knighthood, and with the thanks of the United States Congress. Hand in hand the New England youth and his belpful wife came honorably down through half century of time, almost to the a century of time, almost to the present day. A little more than one week ago, however, the woman he wedded on the day of his majority, died. Tonight, almost bereft of life and fortune and made penniless by the hand of an ingrate and disgraced son, Cyrus W. Field lies dying at 72 years of age, in the handsome home that shall no longer be his. Edward M. Field, the son who wrecked the firm of Field, a daughter of Cyrus W. Field, is believed to be on her deathbed.

This expresses, in a few words, the pitiful condition of a family which, a few weeks ago, was envied for its wealth, happiness and social eminence. The fact that today is the fifty-first anniversity of Cyrus W. Field's marriage adds new sadness to the story of the day. A member of the family tonight came from the bedside of Cyrus W. Field and said: "He is completely broken in health and spirit. Bereft of his wife and his fortune and crushed by his wife and his fortune and crushed by the fact that his favorite son has finar cially ruined the family and made a mental wreck of himself, the unfortun-ate old man feels that death would be a welcome solace to him. He feels that his name has been tarnished, notwithstanding the fact that he has sacrificed his all to keep his son from bankruptcy."

Dr. Fuller, the family physician, said:
"He may linger for a few days and he may die in a few hours."

Edward Field appealed to his father recently for assistance to prevent the failure of the firm, all his resources having been used up. His father con-sented to assist him, and authorized him to take certain securities from the to take certain securities from the strong box for the purpose. The son, however, took every negotiable secu-rity from the box, but even that did not prevent the firm's downfail. It is be-lieved that all that remained of Mr. Field's once great fortune before this fresh trouble did not exceed $1.000,000, and of that not a dollar is left. How much Edward succeeded in getting from his father is not known, but it is said to have been $300,000. The balance was believed to have been in unencumbered real estate, of which his house, which sold this week formed a part. That Cyrus W. Field is now penniless recalls the fact that he was penniess recails the fact that he was supposed to have been a partner in the firm of Field, Lincley & Co. for $500.000 until March 1 last, on the date when the firm reorganized, and the senior Field was supposed to have withdrawn this $500,000. It is now believed that the $500,000, if it existed at all in the transfer of the supposed to have isted at all in that way, was never withdrawn, but was lost, and that its loss brought about the reorganization and introduction of new members, and that Edward M. Field's speculative course continued with the receiver the course continued, with the result that the money of all the partners was lost as well as the half a million belonging as well as the half a million belonging to his father.

The elder Field realizes the fact that he is penniless in his old age, for as he lay on his deathbed yesterday he said to an old friend: "I am as poor as the day I came into the world."

The statement said to have been frequently made by the assignee, that two of the partners, Lindley and Weichers, were innocent of all knowledge of the were innocent of all knowledge of the firm's condition and that it had been go-ing on until the failure, is laughed at ing on until the failure, is laughed at by bankers and brokers. A remark made by Assignee Gould has been the subject of much comment today. Mr. subject of much comment today. Mr. Gould said: "It seems to me that the greater part of the money lost by the operations of E. M. Field was lost right here by partners in the firm." Still Gould could not begin to give any estimate of the assets and liabilities of the defunct firm. To show the difficulties che labored under and there is nothing as yet to demon-strate the ability of any one candidate to transfer his strength to another in the event of his withdrawing. Crisp's and Mills's friends continue very sanguine of winning, and are working for an early termination of the contest. They still say they expect a break among the supporters of Springer, Mc-Millin and Hatch after the first or econd ballot.

At Crisp's headquarters it was said that two or three votes had been trans-ferred to him from the doubtful column. Mills is bopeful of a considerable accession of strength to come between now and Saturday. There seemed to be a general disposition this afternoon to admit that Crisp is doing exceedingly well, but his opponents insisted that he had reached his limit of strength and would be unable to obtain a majority vote. McMillin and Springer say they will keep in the fight to the end, believing the contest between Mills and Crisp will have no result except to necessitate the choice of another candidate. date, in which event each of these gen tlemen hopes to be the choice of the caucus. Hatch, though not yet so active in the canvas expresses a similar opinion and hope.

During the afternoon estimates were made of the strength of the several candidates. Crisp's friends counted between 93 and 96 names for him on the first ballot. A conservative supporter of Mills said he had nearly 75 votes. This, he thought, would be increased by Saturday. The chief work today was directed against Springer's forces, and reports were current of a break in favor of Mills. Springer, however, said he was holding his own. The Illinois candidate has shown more strength. candidate has shown more strength than the others were willing to concede him at first, and one of his lieutenants said that Springer had at least forty votes to be cast in his favor on the first

In it Admiral Vall informed Balaces. after the landing of the troops at Quintero. In it Admiral Vail informed Balmaceda that Admiral Brown expressed belief that the Congressional troops would not reëmbark. At that time the government forces were inclined to believe that the landing of troops at Quintero was a mere feint, and that they intended to reëmbark and effect another landing south of Valparaiso.

American residents of Chile, whose sympathies were with the Congressional party during the war, express sympathies were war, express indignation at the conduct of the provisional government in regard to certain matters in which the American Government is interested, and also the postile artitude of the public toward hostile attitude of the public because the men were Americans. There is also good reason to believe the affair was premeditated. The attack was made not only by sailors of the Chilean warships and boatmen and other rough characters who infest the the Junta was still going on regarding the refugees in the legation. The American and Spanish legations are the only ones containing refugees. The Spanish Minister has five of Balmaceda's supporters under his protection, and has taken the same stand that Egan has, and during the controversy was in harmony with him at all times.

A sensation has been created by the publication of a notice by three brothers of Aldusatte. Minister of Foreign Reof Aldusatte, Minister of Foreign Reor confirm the story, but admits that it exceeded $20,000, the amount he first gave out as the company's loss. The robbers seem to have got safe away as the decectives failed to find any trace of them. nation was made at the time by those in whose charge he was that he had been shot while attempting to escape. His three brothers were active members of the Congressional party and now an-nounce that they have discovered, beond a doubt, that he was deliberately yond a doubt, that he was deniberately murdered. They demand an official investigation and claim that they can show that their brother's death was caused by the order of persons in authority in the provisional government.

Chicago Anarchists Will Appeal. CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Justice Woodm before whom the cases of the Anarchists, arrested at the meeting held November 11, are being tried, today decided vember 11. are being tried, today decided that the assemblies raided were unlawful ones. He fined the leaders $100 each, and the others $10 each. These fines at the instance of the city prosecutor, were at once suspended, this action presumably being taken for the purpose of averting an appeal to the higher court. It is understood, however, that the defendants will appeal nevertheless.

The San Francisco Examiner of Tuesday has the following:

The handsome new Baptist Church edifice on Bartlett street, near Twenty-third, is now without a pastor. The Rev. P. W. Dorsey, who has occupied the pulpit emiciently for the past four years, has resigned, for reasons chiefly personal. It is the desire of quite a number of the members to recall Mr. Dorsey's predecessor, De Witt T. Van Doren.

Mr. Dorsey has not decided definitely yet as to his future course. Good inducements of some time, standing have been offered him in New York State, where he will probably settle. He departs for the East with his family in a week or so.

Aside from his many excellent qualities, Mr. Dorsey will be gratefully remembered among the Baptist people on this Coast for his achievements in the erection of new houses of worship. The First Baptist Church people of Los Angeles are largely indebted to him for one of the finest churches in that city, while the Emiganuel Baptist Church of this city, one of me finest churches in that city, while the Emiganuel Baptist Church of this city, one of me finest in the State, is also a monument to his faith and energy.

His Buggy Capsized.

TA man named H. B. Adams' called at the central police station last evening and asked to be admitted to the receiving hospital. His head was badly cut and as soon as his injuries were attended to by Dr. Murphy he explaited that he was driving down Temple sreet where the space between the rillroad track and the sidewalk is very narrow. A team of horses was hitched to a post, and just as Adams passed they backed the wagon they were highed to out in the street and Adams' biggy was capsized. He was thrown out, head-first and thought at first he jad been killed. He was sent home after he had been patched up.

Arrival of Detective Auble with His Prisoner.

at San Diego to Secure Mo Donald's Release.

Attorneys Retained and Habeas Corpus Proceedings Instituted.

The Man, So Far as Known, a Stranger i Los Angeles - He Refuses to Make Any Statement About the Affair.

Detective Auble returned from Sar Diego yesterday afternoon between 1 and 2 o'clock, bringing with him A. E. McDonald, the man arrested in that city Monday afternoon on a charge of having robbed the Catholic Cathedral in this city last Thursday night, a full account of which has heretofore been pub-

As has been stated, Detective Auble As has been stated, Detective Aubie left for San Diego Tuesday afternoon, armed with the necessary documents to bring McDonald back. The officer arrived in that city about 8 o'clock the same evening, and at once began work on the case. The local officers had done on the case. The local officers had done everything in their power to dig up all the evidence in sight, but, owing to the reticence of the prisoner, but little had been learned. The first clew was found by Constable Tim Monahan, who got word Monday afternoon that a man giving the name of E. McDonald and stopping at the Bay View Hotel had a considerable quantity of metal, silver and gold in his possession, some of which looked as though it belonged to the communion service of the Catholic Church. The officer at once communicated with Detective Russell and McDonald was shadowed to an assayer's office. shadowed to an assayer's office, where he had gone for the purpose of having the plates melted up and assayed. He was then taken in charge and Chief Glass, of this city, notified. In the meantime it was ascertained that In the meantime it was ascertained that McDonald had been in San Diego before and had made his head-quarters at Cassidy's saloon on the water front, but he had not been seen about the place for some time, and nothing could be ascertained about his noting count be assertance about his associates. On the receipt of Chief Glass's telegram describing the stolen articles, and referring to Father Ubach to identify the same, that gentleman was called in, and when the plate had was called in, and when the plate had been positively identified as part of the vessels taken from the cathedral in this city McDonald was locked up.

The prisoner, however, in the meantime, had not been idle. He had $52 in cash on his person when arrested, and a gold watch and chain, and these wars lurned even to his friends with were turned over to his friends, with whom he had managed to communicate, and they raised $50 more. Attorneys James Callen and Len Goodwin were at once retained, and preliminary habeas corpus proceedings instituted, and Tuesday afterneon the matter came up before Judge Pierce. The Judge, however, after hearing the facts, refused the writ, and McDonald was committed to jail to await the arrival of the Los Angeles officers.

Detective Auble made the trip to this city with his prisoner without incident. city with his prisoner without incident. McDonald positively refused to talk about the case, and was evidently on his guard, being very careful not to say anything that would criminate himself. On arriving at the police station. McDonald was taken into the chief's wrivate office and questioned at length.

mell. On arriving at the police station. McDonaid was taken into the chief's private office and questioned at length, but still declined to talk. He said that he did not wish to be understood as being disrespectful or obstinate, but as he had paid out his money for legal advice he was going according to directions. He had been told not to say anything by his attorneys and he did not propose to go contrary to their wishes in the matter, especially as they would be here from San Diego to defend him. McDonald was then stripped for the purpose of a thorough examination, on which to base an accurate description. The only marks found on his body were a scar on the right-arm near the eibow, and several scars on his back and hips. These, he said, were caused by bed sores, he having been sick for a long time in a hospital in New York. The officers thought the scar on the arm was caused by a knife or bullet wound, but McDonald denied that this was the case.

After the examination had been made

After the examination had been made, McDonald again put on his clothing and was taken to the cathedral by Chief Glass and Detective Auble, where a consultation was had with the bishop, the result of which could not be learned, after which McDonald was returned to the city prison and locked up. So far the officers have been unable to place McDonald. None of the pic-tures or descriptions on file at the station fit him, and while one or two of the detectives are certain that they have seen the man about the city they cannot remember either the time or

M'DONALD INTERVIEWED. McDonald was seen at the city prison last evening by a Times reporter. He says he is 48 years of age, and a native of New York, but beyond—this declines to tell anything about himself. He is rather under the medium height, is neatly dressed, and from his conversation is confidently agent. tion is evidently a man of more than average education. In regard to the crime with which he is charged he declined to make any statement. He said that, so far as he was concerned, he would prefer to go at once before a magistrate and have the whole matter over with as he had no fears about the result, and would have no trouble in clearing himself. But as his attorneys could not get up from San Diego at present, and they had told him not to resent, and they had told him not to talk, he would go by their instructions. He intimated, however, that he bought the silver in San Diego in the regular course of business, and had asked no questions. McDonald was very polite in his manner, but whenever the matter of the robbery was approached he shut up like a clam, and with a quiet smile turned the conversation in another direction. He said that he had been in San Diego once before, a vear or two San Diego once before, a year or two ago, and for a time made Cassidy's sa-loon his headquarters, but when he found out the character of the place he quit going about it. He declined to say how long he had been in san Diego how long he had been in San Diego on his last visit, or where he had been before going there.

SENSATIONAL REPORT. There was a sensational report on the street sterday afternoon to the effect that McD pald was well known in this city, and so one time sang in the Cathedral choir. This rumor, however, proved to have no undation in fact, as none of those who alled at the station recognized McDonat and, so far as known, he has no acquality to the city.

A MAD MUSTANG.

An Exciting Runaway on North Main Street Yesterday. At 8:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon an exciting runaway took place on North Main street. A small mustang attached to a lumbering old buggy became frightened as he crossed First street, and his driver lost all control and jumped out of the buggy. The broncho continued his chase up the street, and when he reached Arcadia street he made a dive for the sidewalk and ran over an old Italian peanut ven-der who has held forth on that corner

The old man was picked up and carried to Dr. Choate's office. He had several ugly wounds on the head, which were fixed up and he was sent home.

When the mustang realized what he had done, he changed his mind about going down Arcadia street and turned back into Main street. When he reached a point near Commercial street Detective Auble rushed out and caught the animal. Both horse and man rolled over on the sidewalk, and for a minute or two it was hard to tell which would come out on top, but the detective proved too much for the little broncho, and held him until several men came to his assistance. No further damage was

Anniversary Number The Times,

be Issued December 4 — Valuable Features—The Story of a Decade -The Best Yet-Times Premiums.

The Los Angeles Times was founded December 4, 1881. On the 4th day of December, 1891, it will celebrate its decennial anniversary in a striking manner, viz.: by the publication of a special 24-page number, in which will be chronicled each onward step of Los Angeles from the era of adobe to the era of brick, stone and iron. There will be a description of the town as it was in 1881, and of the city as it is today, with detailed information about its commerce, trade, steam, cable and electric railroads, buildings, homes, finances and other note worthy matters; also a carefully compiled historical sketch of Los Angeles during the past ten years, with especial reference to the causes and evidences of its phenomenal growth. The creation of THE TIMES is intimately associated with the growth of Los Angeles. It was started just before the commencment of the marvelous advancement which has transformed Los Angeles from a sleepy semi-Mexican pueblo of 11,000 inhabitants to a live American metropolis of more than 55,000. The steady development of THE TIMES will be described, from the starting of the thumb-sheet WEEKLY MIRROR as "the smallest paper in California"-not much bigger than a man's hand-to the 8, 12 and 16-page daily issues of 1891, plethoric with news and advertisements.

Los Angeles county will be given careful attention and large space.

It will be a solid and a superb number. Edition, 20,000 copies or more. Prices in quantities, 5 copies, 25 cents; 10 copies, 50 cents; 20 copies,

$1.00. Spread the Decennial Number abroad

A Peerless Premium, Rand, McNally & Co.'s Encycloedia and Gazetteer, all in one volume of 720 pages, offered as a premium with THE TIMES, daily, or with the SATURDAY TIMES AND WEEKLY MIRROR, is a most valuable acquisition for any library. Never before has there been offered to the public a book of reference approaching this in completeness. compactness or cheapness. It contains 720 pages of encyclopedic information concerning all branches of knowledge, comprising in a condensed form, stripped of unnecessary verbiage, the very cream of the Encyclopedia Brittanica, and the latest addition of Chambers's Encyclopedia, with the addition of a great many American subjects found in neither of the larger encyclopedias. Besides being a comprehensive gazet teer of universal knowledge, it is also a complete atlas of the world. It has eighty full-page colored maps and nearly 2000 engravings. It treats of 18,000 subjects.

The publishers' retail prices for the Encyclopedia are $8 and $10 respectively, but the book will be sent by us, together with one year's subscription to the SATURDAY TIMES AND WEEKLY MIRROR, for the unprecedentedly low price of $3.30; or it will be furnished with the DAILY TIMES, three months, delivered by carrier in any part of the city, for $5.00. (This figure has been advanced from $4.80 to cover an unexpected high freight rate on the books from ment of THE TIMES has more than kept pace with the city's growth, and, with the cooperation of the business men, will show an increase largely in excess of tenfold over its initial number. It is for the business men themselves to see that this showing is made, more see that this showing is made, more especially for the reason that thousands of copies of the paper will be sent abroad, and will be looked upon as the surest index of the city's material growth and progress during the past decade by reason of the comparisons between the Los Angeles of ten years ago and our magnificent modern city as it stands today.

WHERE IS MOZART'S GRAVE?

Next Saturday commemorates the 100th anniversary of the death of Mozart and the event will receive due tecognition from the musicians of the world. Memorial concerts will be held in city and town and hamlet-wherever the name and works of this, the great est opera composer that ever lived, is

This is but another illustration of the fact that great men often live, die and are buried before the world wakes up to recognize their genius. Next Saturday thousands of musicians will participate in this centenary celebration and yet the resting place of this colossal genius remains without a distinguishing mark. Mozart's dust lies in a pauper's grave in Vienna, but where no one knows. The grave was never marked; the plot in which it was made was one that was dug up every ten years and filled anew. A storm drove back the friends who started out to attend the burial and no one saw the body lowered except the sexton and his assistants, and when the widow visited the churchyard, after her recovery from a severe fit of illness, the grave-diggers had been changed and no one knew where the remains of the great musician lay. That grave in Vienna, but where, no one mains of the great musician lay. That was in Vienna, in December, 1791. Half a century later his friend, the Italian poet, (who had composed three operas with Mozart) Lorenzo da Ponte, died in New York, and men whose names shine brightly in local annals, followed him to his grave, yet the exact location of that grave is unknown; no headstone can be found and there are no records to identify the spot where his grave was dug. his grave was dug.

THE developments in the scandalous divorce trial in London between Countess Russell and Earl Russell remind one strongly of an erotic novel published in this country within the last year under the title, "A Marriage Below Zero." That recounts the experience of a young wife who was robbed of her husband's affections by an evil-minded man, with the shadow of a dark and nameless crime making up the background. Most people who read that book probably thought it was a hypothetical or an impossible case; but the exposure of the inner workings of the Russell household as shows that it is not entirely impossible and Gomorrah, Earl Russell is ish-looking man, with hair of a red tinge and what is known in slang parlance as a 'washed out' appearance generally." What a sickening comment on the degeneracy of a once noble line!-the grandson of Lord John Russell brought to such a pass! ANOTHER large bequest for the benefit of a good cause has gone amiss. Will-iam B. Ogden of Chicago died in 1877, leaving an estate estimated to be worth between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000. In his will he divided the property into twenty shares, the income of one share and a half to be devoted "to such charitable uses as a majority of my execu tors and trustees elect and appoint,' during the lives of his widow and son in-law. At their death the principal was to be devoted to the same purpose, and whatever portion of the one and a half shares was not applied to the aforesaid charity was to go to indigent heirs. The trustees carried out their trust in the spirit, which Mr. Og den desired. After long conferences they decided to devote 70. per cent. of the one and a half shares, amounting to between $300,000 and $500,000. to the University of Chicago for scientific education, which would leave the ture them red-handed in the act and remaining 80 per cent. for the benefit of the poorer heirs. But this did not lainous practice can be broken up. The suit the certain poorer heirs, viz., sercontested this clause in the will, and Judge Patterson of the Supreme Court of New York has sustained the technical cal point made by them, and holds that the clause is void under the laws of New York, because the clause is indefinite, and no beneficiary is named who can bring suit to claim his rights. men will learn after awhile that if they want their money to do good after them they had better dispose of it be-

Train Robberies May be Prevented. The robbery of an express car on the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad near Glendale, Mo., in which the gang captured from $20,000 to $75,000, is another forceful reminder to the express and railroad companies that some general precautionary measures ought to be adopted. THE TIMES has made the suggestion several times that a guard, armed with a short shotgun loaded with slugs, should be stationed on the engine tender or in the cab on every express train. The amount lost by the Adams Express Company in this latest robbery would have sufficed to pay the expense of an armed guard on every express train on that line for several years.

A little study of these train robberies shows that they are all accomplished in practically the same way. A gang of men board the train at some way station, and, as it pulls out, one or two of them work their way forward, climbing over the tender, and presenting their revolvers at the engineer and fireman in the cab. It should be borne in mind that they can accomplish nothing in the way of robbing the express car while the train is in motion. Therefore they must first capture the engine and oblige the engineer to bring the train to a standstill in an out-of-the-way place. It is not to be expected that the engineer and fireman, engrossed they are in their duties can keep anything of a lookout for even in the creme de la creme of English an attack from the rear; and, even aristocracy. The report reads like a if they were around, the robbers would chapter on the last days of Sodom probably be able to get the drop on hem. But, with an armed guard sta tioned in the tender, the case would be different. He would have nothing to do but to watch for just that kind of an attack, and, in the case of suspicious characters approaching the engine either from the sides or by way of the tender, he could cover them with his shooting-iron in the fractional part of a second. If he found occasion to fire he would be pretty certain to bring down

> It strikes us that the defense of the engine on an express train is not such a momentous matter that the companies ought to hesitate long about re sorting to it. Stage companies in the Western States and Territories have found that they could well afford to send an armed guard with each coach when there is danger from footpads, and the system has proven very efficacious. What the stage companies can do the railroad companies can do. And if their own interests do not urge them to some adequate means of protection public sentiment and legal enactments ought to be brought to bear to compel them to do so. It is not simply mone that is jeopardized in these train robbut human life is erally imperiled. Besides, the tempting bait of inadequately protected treasure in express cars is encouraging more and more of this kind of outlawry, and leading to the formation of nume ous bands of robbers who are a menace their attention to passengers and rob or one or more of the robbers with his scattering charge.

It will be necessary to shoot down half a dozen of these Jack Cades, or capsooner the railroad and express companies come to a realizing sense of the edicacy of an ounce of buckshot as a preventive, the sooner they will accomish the pound of cure. Train robberies may be prevented, There has been altogether too much dalliance.

"Criminal Borrowing." The reckless methods pursued by Ed ward M. Field, by which he wrecked his business associates and many of his patrons, dishonored a great name and finally brought himself to an insane asylum, are all coming to the surface since the collapse. The only wonder is that such a gigantic system of swindling could be carried on without immediate exposure. It seems that Field, like that Napoleon of finance Ives, of unhappy memory, kept the transactions of his firm entirely in his own hands. All the available assets were absorbed by him in his varienterprises, and the house Field, Lindley, Weichers & was continually on the ragged edge of bankruptcy. It is stated that for the past six months, the business of the firm has averaged 25,000 shares of stock a day on the Exchange. Some days it ran as high as 50,000 or 60,000 shares. But they were unable to carry their load over a single night, so they made arrangements with another firm-Lapsley & Co.-whereby they spouted all securities in their hands every afternoon. If, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the firm was obliged the stocks would be taken over to Laps ley & Co. and sold for cash, generall at a loss of one-eighth or one-quarter On the following morning Field & Co would buy back what stocks they were obliged to replace with their customers, paying, of course, the full mar-

pay Peter. That such an utterly abandoned method of financiering could be carried on under the noses of people who intrusted hundreds of thousands of dollars of property to the firm is one of the enigmas of modern stock-brokerage. When Sidney Dillon called it "criminal borrowing" he employed a mild epithet, indeed. If any one clerks or in the employ of the brokerage firm had made an appropriation of a dozen shares of the lowest-priced stock in hand, and had been caught at it, his offense would have been termed embezzlement.

Thus it seems that Field &

Co. robbed their customers every after noon, selling the stolen property at a frightful loss, and they tided along in this way for six months by making one hand wash the other, so to speak. They sold Peter's stocks to pay Paul, and Free-trade England In his recent speech at the Guildhall banquet Lord Salisbury, the English Premier, declared that England stands practically alone among the nations of the world as an exemplar of free trade. "I am afraid," he said, "we must be content to occupy for a time a peculiar and isolated position. The course of protection does not sink, it rises. Recent elections in America showed a slight reaction, but it has spent its force. The only free trade colony is Sydney, and that, I am afraid, has no onger an unspotted robe. Before very long, I think, we will have the advantage of being the Athanasius contra mundum of free trade, but no doubt a commercial community like England will not falter in its attachment to free trade.

England clings to free trade, and the fact that this doctrine seems to be against the spirit of modern progress arouses British pertinacity and oldfogyism all the more.

And what is the result? "It cannot be denied," says a recent cablegram from London, "that business is in a very bad state here, and there is no prospect of its getting better. Imports and exports alike are falling off. The great staple industries of the country are suffering severely, and enterprise seems to be dead. Even the book-publishing season is uncommonly dull for this time of year. Nobody has any money to spend, now that the Americans have gone home. Consols are only a trifle above 95, and all Mr. Goschen's devices cannot push them higher.' Continuing, in the same vein, the cable letter says:

Lord Salisbury and the president of the Board of Trade have plainly warned the nation during the past week that the commercial future, is to be regarded with much anxiety. No wonder, then, that people fly from the Stock, Exchange and that no more new companies are being brought out.

What is the reason for all this? The first adverse influence is the hostile tartiffs which are gradually drawing an iron line around English industries and preventing their development. The next is the Baring collapse, which undermined half the city and left the other halt afraid to call its cable letter says:

city and left the other half afraid to call its

Comment on such a state of affairs seem to be unnecessary. England's trade is being lopped off and appropriated by other nations in almost quarter of the globe. England is no onger the foremost manufacturing country, and, before many years, her supremacy as the first maritime nation will pass from her. The hide-bound non-progressive policy of free trade is at fault for this more than any other

THE Santa Fé crew of trainmen who gave chase to a section of runaway cars from Pasadena down to the Garvanza bridge the other day are certainly deserving the thanks of the community They found it impossible to couple to the wild train while in motion, but they managed to climb upon it and set the brakes, thereby bringing it to a standstill. Had the runaways crashed into the outgoing passenger train, which was probably have been obliged to record he most dreadful railroad accident in the history of this section.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

The Piano in Church.

Los Angeles, Nov. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times.] There are fads and fads, but the latest and most gigantic is the placing of pianos in the church. There can be ther solution of the fact; they are there there.

The piano as an accompaniment to religious songs is a farce in the fullest sense of the word. The writer recently attended a fashionable church in this city, and the hymn being announced the congregation and piano began as follows: (A few preliminary thumps.) "Praise God (thump) from whom (thump) all blessings (thump) flow," (thump.) etc.

Compared with the organ for religous worship, the piano sinks into oblivion. It has been truly said, that "fluist has converted more souls to God than preaching." but the poet does not mention the piano. The plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the said of the control of the plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the control of the plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the control of the plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the control of the plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the control of the plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the control of the plano is neither a lead nor an accompanying instrument, proper, but is especially and the control of the plano.

cially suited to both parts in a class of music deemed sparkling, brilliant, and calculated to inspire the listener with mirth or worldly thoughts, and is as much out of place in church as the proverbial bull in a china-shop. The organ, on the other hand, is strictly an accompanying instrument, and when its beautifully shaded tones and divine harmony is blended with a song of heaven the soul is filled with holy thoughts and a desire to be nearer its Creator.

Gaze on the touching scene in the Two Orphans, where blind Louise is begging alms near the steps of a church. The snow is failing on her thinly clad form, and while she stands there, friendless and alone, the heart of the beholder, already overflowing with pity, is melted to tears by sounds from the organ as its sacred music is heard issuing from within. Imagine, if you can, the effect of a plano having been struck during such a scene.

Prof. William Plutti, in an' article published in Bartlett's Musical Journal, said: "The time-is coming when the organ will be the only instrument in use," which is worthy of much consideration, coming as it does from such eminent authority.

As an instrument divine the organ is in the foremost rank, but as a fad, pure and simple, the plano in church has the best of it.

AMUSEMENTS. MUSIC AND MUSICIANS.

TURNVEREIN HALL .- There is no musician in the community who has done more to ad-yance the understanding and rendition of classical music than Prof. Stamm. The audience which filled Turnverein Hall was an excellent proof that his work is not in vain. The principal number of the pro-gramme was Edward Grug's enormous concerto in A minor, for plano and orchestra Prof. Stamm played the difficult plano score with great spirit and fine execution, and Mr. Hamilton, as first violin, led and con-trolled the orchestral parts. The result was an artistic triumph.

The cheerful and humorous "Kinder Sin fonie" might have been aptly a kindergar ten symphony so young were the brigh boys who gave it so modestly and correctly boys who gave it so modestly and correctly. The same players, all quite young fellows, gave later a march by Schloegel so well as to carn the sole encore of the evening. Mrs. Jennings played Chopin's Polonaise in E flat with a facile but rather metallic touch. Mrs. J. J. Schallert was the vocalist of the programme. A certain coldness and unsympathetic tone in the heavy caratina by Mercadente, due to nervousness, wore away and the gay gavotte from Migmon was felt to be all too short. The programme closed with the march from the Nethulungen Leid of Wagner.

If he becomes a candidate for nomination, nothing on earth can prevent his nomination if he desires If he does not. President Harrison will be the nominee. As to the presen relations between these two gentlemen, I am told by each of them that they perfectly understand each other. It will be remembered that the Her-ald on May 10 last planted a monument at the spot near Greensburg, Ind., of-ficially marked as the center of national ficially marked as the center of national population in 1890. The affair attracted a good deal of attention, and the stone still stands—as it always will—to mark one of the decade steps of our advancing people. Frank Dowden, a banker at Greensburg, reports that Willis Burch, living southeast of the monument, has filed his petition with the county commissioners of Decatur county praying that the massive stone be moved two and one-half feet stone be moved two and one-half feet nearer his home. The petitioner re-cites that the Census Bureau did locate the center of population accurately at the time, but that just one month after the monument was unveiled Mrs. Burch the monument was unveiled Mrs. Burch became the mother of two fine boys and a rosy girl; and he begs to show the august commissioners that the center of population has thereby been moved the distance named and in the direction designated. The formal paper, drawn in most legal phraseology, is awaiting action at the December session of the Decatur county board.

By Telegraph to The Times.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] The hearing of the three cases involving the McKinley Tariff Act closed in the Supreme Cour today with a brief argument by Mr. Clark of New York.

Solicitor-General Taft then opened for the Government the case brought here by the United States on appeal from the decision of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York in favor of Bolin & Co. This case involves the validity of the Dingley Worsted Act. The point of most public interest in connection with the act is that the well-remem-bered question of "no quorum" is raised. The gist of the Solicitor-General's ar-gument is that the House had power to make the rule under which the bill passed.

Edwin R. Smith of New York argued the importers' side of the case, maintaining that it was necessary to show a man's presence by his action.

Justice Brewer said the point seemed to be that it was necessary that a man should be heard and not seen, and asked how it would be if a man answered by telephone to the roll call. Could he be

Smith was doubtful on that point, but thought he might be, perhaps, if the House put his name on the journal. Attorney-General Miller closed the case with a brief argument favoring the Government's contention.

NATIONAL FINANCES.

United States Treasurer Nebeker Submits
His Annual Report.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—[By the Associated Press.] United States Treasurer Nebeker has submitted his annual report to Secretary Foster. The ordinary revenues of the Government during the past fircal year were $392,612,447, or $10,468,535 less than the year before. The net ordinary expenditures, exclusive of amounts paid in premiums or bonds purchased, were $355,372,684. an increase of $57,636,198. The surplus revenues were then cut down from $105,844,496 to $37,239,762, which last summer was applied to the reduction of the public debt. The postal revenues amounted to $65,762,908, and the expenditures to $72,067,580, an increase of about $5,000,000 on both sides.

The reduction effected during the year in the principal of the bonded debt and circulating notes, which cannot be reissued, amounted to $116,590,273 and required an expenditure of $126,-901,404 including properties. 991,494, including premiums on bonds

991,494, including premiums on bonds purchased. This sum was made up by taking 889,751,731 from the reserve in the Treasury in addition to the surplus revenues of the year. The consequent reduction in annual interest charge was $4,322,092.

According to the revised figures the amount of money in the country on the 30th of June, exclusive of certificates in circulation, for which the Treasury held deposits, was $1.676,078,102, of which $180.412,019 belonged to the Treasury and $1,495,666,083 was in circulation. There was a net ioss of circulation. There was a net loss of $19,000,000 of gold, a net gain of upward of $40,000,000 in other money and consequent contraction of about $9,000,000 in the whole volume. The Treasurer computes that during

The Treasurer computes that during the past ten years there has been an average increase of $52,200,000 from the end of June to December, in the amount of money actually in circulation, followed by an average decrease of $14,200,000 from the end of December to the end of June. The increase valiged in the past reason. cember to the end of June. The increase realized in the past year has been nearly double this average. An unusually large amount of notes of small denominations have been sent out to the West and South since the 1st of small denominations have been sent out to the West and South since the 1st of July, chiefly for deposits in the subtreasury at New York. The aggregate, up to the middle of November, reached upward of $49,000,000, as against $61,000,000 for the whole preceding year. Measures for improvement in the condition of the coinage, particularly of silver, have been effected, nearly $1,000,000 of uncurrent coins in the Treasury having been restored to full weight. As a result of this and some special efforts in other directions. the amount of fractional silver in the Treasury has been much reduced. Many inquiries for silver specify the new coins. It is believed that but for the prejudice against all coins showing any signs of wear the Treasury would have long since been relieved of a good portion of its load of fractional silver. The Treasurer points out that this prejudice, in the case of silver coins, is altogether groundless, since they derive their currency not from weight, but from the stamp of the mint and are received of groundless, since they derive their cur-rency, not from weight, but from the stamp of the mint, and are received at the Treasury for full value as long as the stamp can be recognized, provided the loss of metal is due to natural November has been colder than usual over the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains and warmer than usual west of Mountains and warmer than usual west of the Rockies. Two cold waves during the month were attended by unusually cold weather, producing temperatures from 10° to 20° lower than ever previously recorded for this season of the year, and carried the frost line south over Northern Florida. During the month the precipitation was in excess generally throughout the central /alleys in the lake region and Dakotas, while less than usual on the coasts and from Texas north to Nebraska. Heavy rainfalls over the winter wheat region doubless resulted in some benefit to crops, but not as much as expected owing to the recent low temperature, which has left the ground frozen. The warm wave now extending over the central ralleys will cause thawing weather throughout the winter wheat region.

The Countess a Good Witness Cross-examination.

Opening Speech for the Defendant-Earl Russell Assailed by a Mob Outside the Courtroom After the Adjournment.

By Telegraph to The Times.

London, Dec. 2.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Interest in the suit of Countess Russell against her husband, Earl Russell, for a judicial separation was enhanced by the publication of the proceedings yesterday. Long before the opening of the court every seat was taken Immediately upon the opening of the case Sir Charles Russell took up his cross-examination at the point where it was broken off yesterday by the ad-journment of the court. Sir Charles put many questions to the witness, regarding the relations between the Earl and Roberts, and tried in every way to lead her to contradict herself. The witness, however, persisted in the statements she made yesterday regarding Roberts. She also repeated the statements that she made concerning the information furnished her by th the information furnished her by the Dowager Countess Russell, Lady Agatha Russell and Rollo Russell.

Dr. Godson then took the stand and, in response to a question of Sir Charles, said the Countess was suffering from spasmodic dysmenorrhæa, a disease often accompanied by hysteria. The Countess, however, was a strong-minded woman and the trouble was not likely to cause hysteria in her case.

Sir Charles Russell then spoke in defense. Sir Charles in substance said that he would limit himself to the broad issues of the case. The sole object of the present suit was to force the payment of alimony by the Earl. Sir Charles then proceeded to rebut the charges of cruelty. He asked the jury not to be carried away by a clever and engaging woman, telling them a story which was untrue in all its essential details. which was untrue in an its essential de-tails—a woman so perverted as to put forward the Roberts incident in order to support herself by odious imputa-tions. These imputations, Sir Charles declared, were made not only against the defendant but another man whose the defendant but another man whose name and reputation might have been blasted by them had he not stood high in the opinion of his colleagues.

At this point the court adjourned.

The Southern Pacific Must Cut Down Commissions.

No More Advantage for the California Emigrant Bureau.

A Change of Curve on the Glendale Narrow Gauge.

The Santa Fe's Fruit Business Up North -A Fire Department for Pullms Cars-General, Local and Personal Mention.

As was noted at the time, the com missioners of the Western Traffic Association recently granted an application of the Southern Pacific road for authority to pay certain commissions on trans-continental emigrant business, amounting, it is said, to $13 on tickets from New York to California. The granting of such authority gave the Southern Pa cific an advantage which was designed to offset an alleged disadvantage in another direction. Since that time com-plaints have, been made by other roads that they were unable to obtain their share of the emigrant business, because of the high com-missions paid by the Southern missions paid by the Southern Pacific and the Canadian Pacific Pacific and the Canadian Pacific, and the agitation became so great that the commissioners found it advisable to reopen the question. They had the matter under consideration at their meeting last week, and as a result Chairman Walker issued an order which it is thought will settle the difficulty. The commissioners decide that they made a mistake in allowing any they made a mistake in allowing any transcontinental line an advantage in this respect, and that the commissions should be uniform. The order provides that, beginning forthwith, no commissions higher than $3 from Chicago and $2 from the Missouri River shall be paid on emigrant business to California. These are the amounts formerly paid, by agreement, by all the interested lines, but the agreement has been a dead letter for many months, and the roads have been taking such individual action as they pieased in competing for the traffic. This created a demoralization that resulted at last in a reduction of the rates themselves.

It is understood that the impending war in time between Kansas City and Chicago railroads is what has caused a corps of Chicago, Burlington and Quincy surveyors to be again put in the field for the purpose of again locating the route for the much-talked-of cut-off, a gap extending from a point in Clay to Bogard, Clay county, Mo. When this piece of road is constructed the Bur-lington will have a line thirty odd miles shorter than at present, or about the same distance as that of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé, which is 454 miles. Through a break in the paper a good-natured Los Angeles schoolboy, taken from life, is protruding his head and shoulders, and, with hat in hand, is supposed to be announcing to spectators that he is "Ten years old, going on eleven." Forming a background for this is seen a portion of the granite front of The TIMES buildof the granite front of THE TIMES building, surmounted by the great gilded eagle which in a day or so will find a lodgment between the two towers on the First street front. Below is seen the large semi-circular window of the First street front, and to the left of it, upon a sheet tacked at an angle, is reproduced a perspective view of the entire building. The upper left hand corner is taken up with the emblems of this paper—crossed sword and pen, with an acorn, the word "Calendar" being above and the year below them. On each side of the picture, strung upon ribbon scrolls, are six cards bearing the calendar months corrected for the year 1892, and pendant from the December card is another bearing the inscription "Decennial anniversary of The Times." cover the channel from the sea and to confine the ebb current between the banks. The shoal at the entrance of the estuary compelled all passenger and freight traffic to be transferred from the Bay of San Pedro to Wilmington by lighters. This bay was the best known of a number of roadsteads along the California coast and the only one that had ever had any foreign commerce. It afforded a good anchorage and shelter for vessels during the greater part of the year and at the time was of considerable commercial importance, as it was the outlet for the productive pialns about Los Angeles and a large extent of country to the eastward, sufficiently great to sustain a fleet of steamers and sailing vessels of considerable size.

The estuary itself, although in its navigation of the continual time of the star with the case of the cast wide, was encompared to the covered by water about 2 feet, but covered by water at high tide, and extending for more than hot one wall in the case of the cast was about 2500 acres, and, the average depth due to lides being 4 feet, supposing this tidal area to be covered to an average depth of 2 feet, supposing this tidal area to be covered to an average depth of 2 feet, supposing this tidal area to be covered to an average depth of 2 feet, the quantity of water contained in one tidal prism would be about 216,000,000 cubic feet. This tidal cide was refined to the covered to an average depth of 2 feet, the quantity of water contained in one tidal prism would be about 216,000,000 cubic feet. This tidal cide was refined to the covered to an average depth due to desirable, however, that the river is a feet to the west wall and also to construct a feet to the west wall and also to construct a feet to the west wall and also to construct a feet to the west wall and a feet to the west wall and around be about 216,000,000 cubic feet. This tidal cide was the feet to the west wall and a feet to empty the feet to the west wall and a feet to entire the continual volume here, as its waters would bring with them a mass of sand and detritus, depositing it on the flats and in the channel, and thus shouling the water and reducing the tidal area. To the south of the entrance, and about 20 miles from the mainland, lay Catalina island, rising from 1000 to 2100 feet above sea level and thus serving as an immeast breakwater, protecting the entrance, and because the continual was to the fourths of amile to the west.

It will thus be seen that the estuary, in proportion to its size, had alarge tidal area, and with its other advantageous features presented, from an engineering point of view, a beautiful prospect of constructing an artificial inner harbor at a comparatively small cost. The engineer, in considering the practicular was onsiderable size.
The estuary itself, although in its naviable parts small, in no part being more han 100 seet wide, was encompassed on to ebb and flow.

The object contemplated was to remove the shoal at the entrance, and to make the channel deeper, wider and straighter. The project proposed by Col. Mendell was, to extend Rattlesnake Island by an artificial bank or breakwater, parallel to the general direction of the change of man's Island, thus confining the waters of the bay to the chance, b. twee the islands and the mainland and compelling the ebb tide to find its exit between Deadman's Island and the shore, instead of escaping as then, all the way from Rattlesnake Island to Deadman's Island. This project required an appropriation of $530,000, and from the work to be done a result of 10 feet highest of water on the inner bar was expected.

of water on the inner bar was realized, but the growth of commerce at this port had outstripped the increase in depth and size of channel, and therefore a second project was proposed by Col. Mendell, requiring an additional appropriation of $425,000, for the purpose of obtaining a depth on the inner bar of 16 feet at mean low water. Up to the present time fourteen appropriations have been made in furtherance of these two projects, amounting in all to $904,000, $51,000 short of the total amount asked for. The work of improvement of the harbor has been carried on as these appropriations have been made, and the present condition of the harbor will, I think, attest to the fact that the results attained are commensurate with the money expended.

During the past year we have dredged about $0,000 cubic yards of material from the channel between the wharf and Deadman's Island; we have built up from a half jetty to a full jetty wall about 1600 feet of the west wall; we finished in October an extension of $00 linear feet to this same wall, and have just put in about 700 linear feet

He paid Lieut Meyler a high compliment, and stated that he has done excellent work during his administration. He is of the opinion that the inner harbor will be large enough to accommodate all the shipping for some years to come.

He then gave figures showing a wonderful increase of business during the past nine years. Ex-Congressman Vandever being present was called on and made a few remarks on the subject Capt. Ainsworth of Redondo stated hat a large vessel just discharged at his wharf at Redondo, and if she had not unloaded there she would have been compelled to go to San Diego, as she could not enter at San Pedro.

Lieut. Meyler stated that she could have entered at San Pedro.

In 1800 Dongress made its first appropriation of $200,000, and work was begun in 1871 on the 6700 linear feet of timber and stone breakwater, that is now called the east jetty. In 1880 the 10 feet depth

RAMABAI CIRCLE.

The Annual Meeting to be Held Next Wednesday.

The annual meeting of the Ramabai Circle will occur next Wednesday at 3 p.m. at Temperance Temple. Reports of the school for the enlightenment and education of the child-widows of India, which has been established Bombay by Pundita Ramabai, will be given. The popular belief of the superstitious Hindoos is that the departed given. The popular celler of the superstitious Hindoos is that the departed husband's happiness depends upon the conduct of his widow; if she lets her hair grow and braids it, his spirit will be tied down in hell; if she wears ornaments and pretty clothes, he will suffer from cold and nakedness; if she eats and drinks enough to satisfy her, her spectral husband is sure to starve. So she must be disfigured, must starve, and her whole earthly happiness be sacrificed to make her husband happy in the other world. Fear that the very strict rules that now make widowhood such a burden that the suttee is preferable, will not be followed if the little widows are allowed to go to school, is the chief obstacle in the way of their going. It educated they may find something which will make them wish to live, something to inspire them with hopes of a better, happier lite.

Hence, every obstacle is thrown in the way of their enlightenment.

Magnificent Fruit Land at $100-PER ACRE-$100 With Water Right.

With Water Right.

The Kingston Tract is part of the famous Jurupa Ranch in San Bernardino county, and lies just north of the Santa Ana River, midway between Riverside and Chino.

The soil is a rich sandy loam, easily worked, and of a similar character to Riverside, the elevation being about the same.

The world-wide reputation of this section for orange growing needs no puffing, and parties in search of citrus land at bottom prices will not hesitate to buy in this tract when once they see the land and surroundings.

The Chino Factory is within easy distance—about 6 miles in a direct line. Part.es will find some of this land well adapted for raising sugar beets.

DR. WOH,

The Eminent Chinese Physician.

Dr. Woh's life work has been from early youth one of persistent and untiring observation, study and investigation, as fully as lay in his power to perfect himself in all branches of the art of healing human sickness and disease. Born in China, of influential parents, of a family whose ancestors have been for generations deservingly nowned as leading physicians, Dr. Woh naturally followed in the footsteps of his fathers. In China he has practiced his profession for several years, being at one time a physician in the Imperial Rospital, and in America for a long time. His great number of patients, his wonderful and many cures, and the great list of letters from grateful and thankful patrons new prove him to be a remarkable and successful healer of sickness and all diseases.

For a long time I have been suffering with bladder and kidney troubies. No doctoring or medicines seemed to do me good. I consulted the best physicians and surgeons in Los Angeles city. They gave me morphine and drugs, but no relief could I obtain. After suffering great pain and having my passage almost entirely clogged. I fourteen days ago began using Dr. Woh's medicines. Today I amperfectly well. I do consider Dr. Woh the most successful physician in Southern California.

The sixth annual meeting of the First Congregational Church of Pasadena was held last evening with supper from 4 to 7 o'clock. The meeting was called to order by the pastor, Rev. D. D. Hill. Reports were given of the different branches of the church work, also the church clerk's report, the treasurer's report and trustees' report, all showing an increase of the work of the various lines. The treasurer's report was encouraging, showing that the church had freed itself from debt. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
Church clerk and treasurer, G. A. Green;
cheacon, I. B. Clapp: trustees, A. K. Nash

IT WAS A RATTLER.

A Commotion in a Post-street Cable Car.

Passengers Badly Frightened by the Es cape of a Vicious Reptile-A Very Exciting Time Experienced.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

Rather an exciting affair, in which a rattlesnake played the most important part, occurred in a Post-street cable car the other day. At the corner of Stockton street a tall, cadaverous-looking youth boarded the car. In one hand he held a large tin can covered with a bit of newspaper.

No one would have paid any attention to him if he had not kept tapping the can with his finger and holding it up to his ear, while a pleased grin overspread his features. A queer buzzing sound seemed to issue from the can, and at times was plainly heard above the rumble of the car. Finally a womam seated near asked what the can contained. "A rattlesnake," was the careless reply.

Without delay she signaled the con-

Without delay she signaled the conductor to stop the car, and left it in a hurry, with terror depicted on her face. Still the loud buzzing continued.

"Good joke, young man, good joke to make her think you had a rattlesnake in that can," said a little man in a treble voice, rubbing his hands together, as Turk street was reached. "Why, about forty years ago"—

But the little old man never finished the sentence, for as he spoke he tapped

B-z-z-z-t! b-z-z-z! The car was filled with sounds that resembled a chorus of half a dozen locusts as the reptile assumed spiral shape and prepared to strike the first moving object within reach. The ob-ject happened to be the little man's leg. He nearly fainted from fright and was oo feeble to get up on the seats as too feeble to get up on the seats as quickly as the other passengers did.

The rattler suddenly straightened out his body and struck, but miscalculated the distance and the little man's life was saved, for he was dragged out of reach of the deadly fangs before the snake could strike again. The car was stopped and the remaining passengers alighted, leaving the rattler in full possession, but not for long, because the gripman entered with a long iron crowbar. He dealt a blow at the snake, but missed, and, had he not jumped back in the nick of time, the en-raged reptile's fangs would have been buried in his leg. The second blow broke the rattler's back and he was soon dispatched and thrown into the

The youth who owned the snake was seen later in the day. He was badly frightened over the affair, and refused to give his name, saying he had the snake merely for scientific purposes, and of course did not suppose that it would break out of the can covered by a single thickness of newspaper. He regretted the loss of the ratter because he had just paid $4 for it. just paid $4 for it.

COUNTY TAXES

Notwithstanding the high rate, county taxes have been well paid up this year, and, as was predicted, the delinquent list will be unusually brief. Out of a grand total of $508,000 to be collected Tax Collector Kendall has gathered in $333.100.41, leaving a balance of $175,000. REDLANDS.

Redlands is to have a public library in the near future. A. H. and A. K. Smiley have generously offered to contribute $100 apiece toward the purchase of books for such an institution, provided $1500 can be raised by popular subscription. It is cer tain that this sum can be raised if the proper steps are taken, and the success of the undertaking is assured almost from the start. Under Redlands's present form of government the city cannot aid the library, but this will soon be remedied, for the town will soon elevate itself to a city of the fifth class under the State law, when a special library tax may be assessed. A library is needed, and the agitation of the subject should not be allowed to drop,

By his side sat a suspicious female, who no sooner felt his hand passing down to her pocketbook, as she thought, than she seized the offending member, satisfied that she had caught a pickpocket with her pocketbook securely in his grasp. The gentleman smilingly said, "You think I have got your pocket said, "You think I have got your pocket-book," accompanying the remark with an upward movement, which disclosed the opera glass. The female thief catcher blushed and apologized, the red fire kindly aiding her to cover her discomfiture.—Bos-ton Naws.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2, 1891. Trade in dried fruits continues very dull. ome dealers say they are doing absolutely nothing in this line, while others report only a few sales. In a review of the situa-tion the Grocer and Country Merchant

"There is no special movement to record in dried fruits for the past week, and the indications are that activity will not be very pronounced in the near future. Stocks of many, if not most, descriptions have been already reduced. Aside from common peaches and perhaps ordinary apples, there are few varieties in what can, be termed excessive supply considering pies, there are few varieties in what can be termed excessive supply, considering that next season is a long way ahead. The firmness of the market is still confined largely to prunes, with inquiry for this fruit quite fair, and a large proportion of the crop now out of the growers' hands. Plums, pitted, are fairly steady, but unpitted receive light attention. The market for peaches shows little life, although there is some inquiry observable for the cheaper grades, but at decidedly low figures. It is probable that some of this fruit will have to be carried late into the season, if not into next crop year. Apricots of the more desirable qualities are not cumbering the market to any great extent at present, but values show no quotable improvement. Apples meet with little inquiry, hardly any on other than local account. Pears are in silm request. Figs are not peintful and are mostly of quite ordinary quality, while the higher grades are mainly sought after. Grapes are not meeting with much custom, and bid fair to rule quiet for the balance of the season."

Orange and Lemon Lands

At Redlands, Mentone and Barton Ranch. Only 10 per cent cash down; no further payment for 6 and 10 years.

Location.

Mentone is the highest station on the Santa Fe Belt R. R. il miles from San Bernardino, only 3 miles east of the business center of Rediangis. The Motor line and Southern Pacific are now preparing to extend their roads to Mentone: they are within three miles of there at present. The oranges, lemons, olives and all other fruits grown at MENTONE and vicinity are the best and highest priced in the market, as there is no black smut, no scale bug or fruit pests of any kind. There are orange, lemon and about all other kinds of fruits and vines there more than 29 years old Some of the orange trees bearing poles to the tree, and some of the lemons 29 boxes. The prettiest Hotel in South California is now being built at MENTONE. It will be lighted with incandescent lights.

THE COURTS.

Appeal Case from Pomona Before Judge Smith.

The Date for Young Asevado's Sentence Again Deferred.

Another Lot of Witnesses Examined in the Cohn Contest,

The Chinese Perjury Trial Still in Progres Suit Over a Mining Claim-Gen-eral Court Notes-New Cases.

Judge . Smith vesterday afternoor rendered his decision in the case ap pealed by Hop Lee from the Record er's Court of Pomona, denying the defendant's motion for a new trial and affirming the judgment of the lower court. In rendering this decision Judge Smith said:

It is claimed by defendant that the judge that tried the case is also a Justice of the Peace, and that therefore under art. 4 sec. 20, of the constitution, he could not act as judge of the Recorder's Court. But it is a well-settled principle of law that the right to hold an office cannot be attacked llaterally, but only in a direct proceeding for that purpose. The Recorder is a de facto officer at least and his acts as to the public valid. (People vs. Sassovich, 29 Cal. 480. People vs. Provines, 34 Cal. 520.) The other points raised by defendant were passed upon at time of hearing.

AGAIN DEFERRED.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour appointed by Judge Smith for the passing of sentence upon Albert Ase-rado, the youth recently convicted of burglary, the defendant appeared in Department One alone, and in the absence of his counsel the matter was de-ferred until 8 o'clock p.m. At that hour, however, Messrs. Del Valle and Munday appeared, and informing the court that they had just been retained in the case, asked for time in which to examine the testimony. The matter was thereupon continued until Tuesday

THE COHN CONTEST. The Cohn contest was again resumed before Judge Clark in Department Two yesterday, and considerable progress was made, thirteen witnesses being called by the contestant, Delphina Cohn, to show the relationship which existed between the deceased, Bernard Cohn, and herself. They were: J. A. Domingo, Mrs. Annie Gillsen, José Campuzano, J. H. Reynolds, Charles Campuzano, J. H. Reynolds, Campuzano, J. H. Reynolds, Sacramenta Liera, Isadore Reyes, Martini, C. L. W. A. Ryan, Horatio Martini, C. L. Hargitt, Rosalind Diaz, Antonio Buis-serst and A. H. Voigt. SUIT OVER A MINING CLAIM.

In Department Three yesterday the trial of the case of H. C. Whistler vs. the Placerita Mining, Milliug and Water Company was commenced before Judge Wade and the following jury: P. H. Bullis, C. Burdick, J. H. Burke, P. By-ron, A. B. Cass, E. R. Jeffrey, R. Kin-cade, F. W. Peschke, R. J. Pollard, H. B. Treat, J. H. Williams and J. L. Willists. The plaintiff was represented by Messrs. Graff & Latham, while the defendant's interests were looked after by J. L. Murphey, Esq. The suit is for the purpose of determining conflicting rights to a mining claim in the San Fer-nando district.

A MIXLED REPLEVIN SUIT.

The case of J. H. Alderson against L. H. and É. A. Gibbs, a suit to replevin seven horses, eight vehicles, harness, etc., valued at $1825, and to recover $200 damages or the illegal detention thereof, occupied the attention of Judge Van Dyke and the following jury in Department Four yesterday: F. L. Baker, van Dyke and the following jury in Department Four yesterday: F. L. Baker, J. Barrett, A. M. Bragg, J. H. Davis, S. E. Douglass, J. M. Fix, W. H. Germain, H. H. Hanson, J. C. Hanna, J. J. McClelland, R. E. Paulson and R. M. Web-

Plaintiff, who is represented by Messrs. Bentley & Dunnigan, alleges that the property was obtained by fraud on the defendant's part; while the defendants, for whom Messrs. Bledsoe & Binford appear, claim that plaintiff executed a bill of sale to them for the property.

CHINESE PERJURY TRIAL. The trying of the Ah Tet perjury case occupied the attention of Judge McKin-ley and a jury in Department Six all-day again yesterday, the following witnesses ing called by the prosecution: J. J. Auble and Ah Yuet. All four reiterated the testimony given by them upon the trial of the Wong Ark murder case, of day next. In Department Two yesterday morning Judge Clark denied the motion of the plaintiff in the case of Jenks vs. Miller et al., for judgment on the pleadings; but granted him leave to amend his complaint therein.

The trial of the suit instituted by the Connty of Los Angeles against Pable

The trial of the suit instituted by the County of Los Angeles against Pablo Reyes, to condemn a right-of-way for a road through defendant's land near Calabasas, occupied the time and attention of Judge Shaw and a jury of four, in Department Five, yesterday. All the testimony is in for both sides, and the matter, which has been partially armatter, which, has been partially ar-gued, will be submitted to the jury today.

Max Roth, a native of Ravaria, was duly admitted to citizenship of the United States by Judge Shaw yesterday upon producing the necessary proof of residence here and taking the requisite oaths of renunciation and allegiance.

Judge Shaw yesterday granted the petition of the Los Angeles County Bank for leave to change its name to that of the Bank of America.

In Department Six vesterday morn.

In Department Six yesterday morning Judge McKinley ordered that the examination of the defendant in the flase of Jeanie Elisetche vs. Miguel Emonset, before the Court Commissioner, as to his property, be continued until Monday the 28th inst.

Upon motion of the defendant until Monday the 28th inst.

Upon motion of the defendant's counsel Judge McKinley, yesterday, deferred the passing of sentence upon John C. Hoy. recently convicted of forgery, until Thursday, the 11th inst.

COYOTE SCALP BOUNTY.

All Claims Passed Upon for the Quarter Ending October 1.

A Sacramento special to the San Francisco Examiner of Tuesday says:

Francisco Examiner of Tuesday says:
The State Board of Examiners, consisting 6 60v Markham, Secretary of State Waite and Attorney-General Hart, have passed upon all coyote scalp claims for the quarter ending October 1. This is the second quarter of the existence of the act creating a bounty on coyote scalps and shows an increase of about 2000 scalps, or $10,000, over the first quarter.

State Controller Colgan and his entire force, including Deputy State Controller Douglass, have been busily engaged the past few days drawing thousands of warrants in payment of the coyote-scalp claims. These claims will aggregate about $38,000, while for the first quarter, ending June 30, the claims amounted to $28,000. At this rate the Secretary will have paid out over Secretary will have paid out over $250,000 before the convening of the next Legislature.

From the expressions made by Private Secretary Higgins it may be safely said that Gov. Markham will confer with the other members of the State Board of Examiners about this large and peculiar increase of coyote scalps, and that he will thereafter suggest to the Legislature the propriety of repealing the

AN OPEN LETTER! VERY IMPORTANT!

To Those Who Have Learned the Lesson in . GEOGRAPHY

And all others interested, I wish to say a few words further regarding And all others interested, I wish to say a low words that is regarding the East Whittier property. A good many have made inquiries, some have purchased, but we still have choice locations. Those, who come first will get the choice. We expect many eastern people here to locate during the winter. There is no question as to the richness of the soil and the beauty of location, or to its adaptability to orange raising, and it is pronounced by experts the very choicest of lemon land. Lemons and Oranges are without question the wealth-producing Lemons and Oranges are without question the wealth-producing fruits of Southern California, and the one who has ten acres or more in bearing orchards of these fruits has a fortune, not for today but for a lifetime, continually increasing; better than a settled annuity. The mesa land on the southern slope of the Puente Hills, from the Rincon Gap eastward, beautiful, rich, sheltered, warm in winter, cool in summer, is the garden spot of Los Angeles county and Southern California; Whittler and East Whittler the choicest of the choice. The magnificent East Whittler water system, with a capacity of 20,000,000 gals, daily now carrying 5,000,000 gals, makes the future of this tract of land assured. The fountain artesian wells of the company have just been measured and show a variation of only 2 per cent. from their flow when first open, establishing the permanency of the flow. For the present the price of the East Whittler tract is $200 per acre with water, and you get a clean title to both. The terms are liberal, one quarter down, balance in one, two and three years at 7 per cent. We do not sell to speculators, only to those who will improve, thus insuring the best class of people. The East Whittler tract is close to schools, both graded and primary, and to the Whittler Academy, just opened with most promising outlook; best of teachers and good attendance. A Friends' Church, with fine buildings and the most prosperous and largest society in Southern California. An M. E. Church, with a large and growing society and fine building. Also a Baptist society. Here you have all the advantages of suburban life and society, and a chance to make a beautiful home at low cost. Come and see the property and it will please you. very sincerely yours, A. L. REED, Gen'l Mangr.
